

Program on Science and Global Security, Princeton University

Princeton-Tsinghua-Wuhan Arms Control Seminar Topic

June 2020 to June 2023

Seminar	Date	Princeton-Tsinghua-Wuhan Arms Control Seminar Topic
1	7/2/2020	Missile defense and Impacts on US-China nuclear relationship
2	7/23/2020	Multilateral Nuclear Disarmament
3	8/18/2020	New START: Is there Any Way to Avoid the Death of the Treaty and, If Not, Can We Avoid Domino Effects?
4	9/17/2020	Potential Transparency Principles and Measures for the US and China to Avert a Nuclear Arms Race
5	11/17/2020	The Arms Control Policy of the Next U.S. Administration
6	12/15/2020	Lessons from Transnational Nuclear Policy Engagement and Dialogues
7	1/12/2021	How Can China and the U.S. Resume Cooperation on the JCPOA
8	1/29/2021	The Extension of the New START Treaty and Follow-on Initiatives
9	3/22/2021	Setting Quantitative Constraints on the Chinese Nuclear Force
10	4/21/2021	Managing Sensitive Information for Nuclear Arms Control Verification and Carbon Emission Monitoring
11	5/18/2021	China-U.S. Cyber-Nuclear Command, Control, and Communications Systems Stability
12	6/25/2021	Lessons from Past Taiwan Strait Crises for Risks of U.S.-China Conflict Escalation
13	9/14/2021	Nuclear Modernizations and U.S.-China Strategic Stability (including Reported Chinese ICBM silos)
14	10/28/2021	Nuclear Submarines and Strategic Stability in the Asia Pacific region
15	12/9/2021	Fractional-Orbit Bombardment System (FOBS) and its implications
16	2/24/2022	Ballistic Missile Defense: Threats and Challenges
17	4/27/2022	The Russian war against Ukraine and its implications for US-China relations, arms control and international peace and security
18	7/7/2022	U.S. Indo-Pacific Strategy and its implications for U.S.-China security relationship
19	12/1/2022	The Biden Administration's Nuclear Posture Review and What It Means for the U.S.-China Nuclear Relationship
20	1/12/2023	The Future of U.S.-Japan extended nuclear deterrence and the possibility of nuclear sharing
21	5/12/2023	Implications of U.S.-China competition for Middle East security and the Iran nuclear deal